Assistant Professor, Public Administration
Dyson College of Arts and Sciences
Pace University

The Dyson College of Arts and Sciences, Pace University, invites applications for an anticipated full time, tenure track position at the rank of Assistant Professor in the Department of Public Administration to begin September, 2015. The position is located primarily on the downtown New York City campus but will also involve teaching at the Westchester campus, about 40 miles north of NYC.

The ideal candidate will possess an earned PhD in Public Administration or a closely related field and will be a generalist qualified to teach courses in one or more of the Department’s three major tracks of government, health care and non-profit management that comprise the Master of Public Administration program. The Master of Public Administration program currently has 150 diverse students, a mix of pre- and in-career students. Candidates for this position should possess cultural competency and be able to teach online and hybrid-online courses. They are also expected to develop a scholarship program that involves graduate students.

For full consideration, candidates should submit a letter outlining qualifications, a current CV, evidence of teaching ability, a research agenda that can lead to tenure and names and contact information of three references to: mschilio@pace.edu

Review of applications will begin immediately and will continue until the position is filled; applications received by January 15 are guaranteed consideration.

Pace University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action employer. Minorities, women, veterans and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply.
