Pace University's List of Expert News Sources

Pace University's Experts List is a resource for journalists that instantly links them with more than 100 sources for stories and specialized information about trending issues.

For media outlets big and small, finding a source is the most critical step in developing any print, broadcast, or internet news story.

With demanding deadlines, journalists and media professionals need to eliminate obstacles to identifying and reaching recognized, respected, and knowledgeable sources according to experience, expertise, or field of interest. Pace University's Office of Media Relations provides a solution to this problem by making a comprehensive, regularly updated list of qualified experts instantly available.

Through Pace University's Experts List, we remove the burden of having to study the University landscape, scour our website, and navigate extensive telephone and e-mail directories, so journalists can devote maximum time and focus to writing.
