

POLITICO New York Real Estate

A synopsis of our Pro morning email about New York real estate policy and politics

About The Author

Sally Goldenberg is a Senior Reporter for POLITICO New York, reporting on housing, economic development and real estate. She joined the team in October 2013 to cover New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio's administration, with a focus on budget and labor contracts.

Previously, Sally covered the New York City Council and former Mayor Michael Bloomberg's administration for the New York Post. She also reported for the Staten Island Advance (July 2005 - May 2008), and covered municipal government for the New Jersey Star-Ledger (December 2002 - June 2005) and the Hillsborough Beacon (from June through December 2002).

A native of Elizabeth, New Jersey, Sally now lives in Brooklyn. She has a Bachelor's degree in Journalism from Rutgers University.

421-a revived

By Sally Goldenberg

04/10/17 09:59 AM EDT

HIGHER ED — "Pace University's $190M Financial District expansion gets Landmarks approval," by Curbed's Tanay Warkerkar: "Pace University's $190 million expansion can now move forward after the city's Landmarks Preservation Commission gave its nod of approval to the project this week." Read the story here.