

JUSTICE INITIATIVE COLLOQUIUM

Pace University School of Law & Open Society Institute

In conjunction with the 2012 Regional Round for the Americas and Caribbean, Pace University and Open Society would like to invite you to the Justice Initiative Colloquium.

February 10, 2012
Open Society Institute
400 West 59th Street
New York, NY 10019

The world's leading experts and practitioners will discuss such timely issues as transnational justice, corporate responsibility and international crimes, and careers in international law.

The tentative schedule is as follows:

Session 1 [9:30 – 11:00]: A focus on human rights litigation and a panel discussion on cases where human rights have been used to push for war crimes prosecutions, such as Charles Taylor, Hissène Habré, the Kenya Situation.

Session 2 [11:20 – 12:00]: Human Rights and the Law of Armed Conflict – Inter-American, Africa, and European Perspectives.

Session 3 [12:00 – 12:45]: Careers in International Law panel discussion. Potential opportunities at the Tribunals, NGOs, and the United Nations.

Session 4 [1:30 – 3:00]: Positive complementarity and support for domestic war crimes trials. Speakers include: Chris Engels via video link (Bosnia); Kelly Askin (mobile courts). Other topics: Bangladesh Tribunal; ECCC; Kenya; Uganda trials; Haiti.

We hope to see you there.
