The Department of Psychology of Dyson College of Arts and Sciences of Pace University invites applications for an anticipated full time, tenure track position at the rank of Assistant Professor to begin September, 2015. The position is located at Pace University’s downtown Manhattan, NYC, campus. The Department offers a Psy.D. in School-Clinical Child Psychology, a M.S.Ed. in School Psychology, a MA in Psychology, two undergraduate degrees, and a combined BA/MA degree.

Applicants must have an earned Ph.D. in Psychology or Psy.D, although the area of expertise is open. An essential qualification for this position is strong expertise in research methodology and advanced statistics. The ideal candidate will have sufficient background in the areas of multivariate statistical analysis and structural modeling to teach these areas at a doctoral level, and provide supervision of these techniques in designing and implementing doctoral projects. Candidates will be expected to teach at both the undergraduate and graduate levels. Preference will be given to candidates with a distinguished scholarly record, strong teaching skills, a history of external funding, and contributions to the profession.

Applicants should submit a cover letter addressing all qualifications specified above; statement of purpose, including short and long-term goals/objectives; statement of research and teaching interests; CV; at least 3 recent or representative publications; and three letters of recommendation to: Betsy Tomala (btomala@pace.edu), 41 Park Row, 13th floor (Psychology Department), New York, NY 10038.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled; Applications received by 01/15/2015 are guaranteed consideration. Pace University is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action employer. Minorities, women, veterans and individuals with disabilities are encouraged to apply.