BIOGRAPHY
"In my classes, I try to connect concepts with real business situations. Theories are interesting and important, of course, but the challenge is to apply them. The Executive MBA Program is particularly valuable because students can immediately apply the things we discuss in class."

BIOGRAPHY
John Smith obtained his B.S. in 1996 from Wuhan University, the namesake of the capital city of his home province of Hubei in central China. After getting his M.S. in 1999 from the Chinese Academy of Sciences in Beijing, he was admitted to New York University, where he received his Ph.D in chemistry in 2004. After a postdoctoral stint with Prof. David S. Lawrence at Albert Einstein College of Medicine, he joined Pace University as an assistant professor in January, 2006. He was promoted to the rank of Associate Professor in 2010 and to Professor in 2013. His research interests include the development of sensing systems for analytes that are of environmental, biological and forensic importance.
