

PACE
UNIVERSITY

GO
FURTHER.

PFORZHEIMER
HONORS COLLEGE

ACADEMICALLY DISTINGUISHED. EXCEPTIONALLY SUPPORTED.

THE PFORZHEIMER HONORS COLLEGE is home to a community of talented scholars and emerging leaders studying under Pace University's distinguished faculty. In the Honors College, you will thrive in an academic and social atmosphere where your peers and your professors can energize and challenge you to realize your greatest potential.

Emi Matsumae '25

BBA in Business Analytics and Digital Marketing / MS in Social Media Mobile Marketing

- Honors Resident Assistant
- VP of American Marketing Association
- President of the Institute for Operations Research and Management Science

EXCLUSIVE ADVANTAGES FOR HONORS COLLEGE STUDENTS

As a student in the Pforzheimer Honors College, you have access to exclusive opportunities that will help you excel academically and achieve your goals.

HONORS COLLEGE OPPORTUNITIES INCLUDE:

- ACCESS. As an Honors student, you'll have early registration for classes and access to innovative and exclusive Honors courses, events, programs, and lectures. Plus, you'll be able to count your internships and study abroad experiences for Honors credit. Additionally, as an Honors student, you'll have access to the Honors Lounge, where you can study, hang out with friends, or work collaboratively with classmates.
- ADVISING. Your Honors academic advisor will stay with you from the day you make your Pace deposit through Commencement. With us, advising is more than just assisting with class schedules; our advisors will be there with you for almost every aspect of your life at Pace. You're not just gaining an academic advisor, you're gaining a friend, a confidant, and an advocate for your success.
- COMMUNITY. A tight-knit group, Honors College students will be your peers, your friends, your study partners, your roommates, your network, and even your mentors. It's a supportive environment where you can truly be yourself and explore your interests. This type of community-building begins at Orientation and, if you choose to live on campus, you'll live in a specially designated Honors floor.
- DISTINCTION. Honors students are awarded highly selective and esteemed awards, including Fulbright, James Madison, Jeannette Watson, Gilman, National Science Foundation, CyberCorps: Scholarship for Service, and Harry S. Truman scholarships. Our students also present advanced research at national and international conferences.
- EVENTS. Joining the Honors College isn't just about hitting the books—it's about making lifelong friends. Picture this: early move-ins during Honors Welcome Week kick off your college adventure with a mix of academics and friendship-building. But it doesn't stop there. Throughout the year, we've got exciting events like ice skating, movie nights, holiday parties, Broadway shows, apple picking—you name it and students in our Honors Advisory Board and Honors Council can plan it.

- MENTORING. Every new Honors student receives a mentor for their first year at Pace. The mentors are upper-level Honors students who are matched with mentees based on a variety of factors including school, major, interests, hometown, etc. Mentors serve as peer guides, helping to answer questions, give advice, network, make friends, attend events, and so much more. As a new Honors student, you'll meet your mentor during Welcome Week.
- RESEARCH. In your junior and senior years, you'll work on your Honors thesis alongside a faculty member, which allows you to explore a topic about which you are passionate. Students present their thesis work during their senior year. Your thesis project is an opportunity for research publication, presentation at conferences, for use during job interviews, or during the application process to graduate programs. To help assist your thesis research, you'll be eligible to apply for a grant of up to $1,000.
- SCHOLARSHIP. Students are reviewed for the Honors College at the point of admission—by admission counselors and the Honors College—no separate application is required.

$27,500

median academic scholarship for entering Honors students, with $15,000 guaranteed minimum scholarship each year

SUCCEED IN AND OUT OF THE CLASSROOM

In the Honors College, it's not about what you're studying, it's about how far your curiosity will take you. Students represent all schools and a variety of majors—from science to cybersecurity, education to entertainment. The Honors College fosters intellectual growth, leadership, civic responsibility, and professionalism through a variety of extracurricular opportunities.

HONORS ADVISORY BOARD AND HONORS COUNCIL

The Advisory Board and the Honors Council foster an inclusive environment for students to develop both personally and professionally. In NYC, the Honors Advisory Board is a student-led organization that promotes Honors culture and develops leadership skills. The Honors Council on Pace's Westchester Campus serves as a venue for Honors students to explore their leadership abilities as well as social and academic curiosity. Students plan and organize events which benefit Honors students and the entire Pace Community.

ACADEMIC COMPETITIONS

Honors students compete at the highest levels and win local and national competitions. Award winning teams include the National Cyber League, which tests students' cybersecurity skills through intercollegiate challenges; the Model United Nations team, which travels around the world to compete in global policymaking; and the College Federal Reserve Challenge Team, which has won five of the last seven competitions, beating Ivy League schools in a test of students' understanding of the US economy, monetary policymaking, and the role of the Federal Reserve system.

Kieran Hagan '25

BBA in Finance

Kieran's success extends beyond the classroom to the field as part of the Pace Men's Lacrosse team. He's also building deep community ties as a lifeguard and through volunteer work as a patient ambassador at Westchester Medical Center.

Pforzheimer
Honors College

Katrina Alonso '19

Associate, Metadata QA, Peacock

As a student, Katrina served as the Editor-in-Chief of student newspaper The Pace Press. She won three awards for journalism and took home the top award at Pace's Commencement ceremony. After graduation, she worked at CNBC and Scholastic before moving to Peacock.

HONORS GRADUATES GO FURTHER

With an amazing internship program and two strategic locations, it's no surprise our students are landing coveted positions at Fortune 500 companies, exciting startups, and international nonprofit organizations. As an Honors College student, you will have access to on-campus recruiting, internship fairs, exclusive job search databases, one-on-one career counseling with a dedicated career advisor, workshops, seminars, networking opportunities with alumni, and much more.

MEET A FEW OF OUR GRADUATES:

Jordan Jhamb '15
Senior Manager, Scotiabank

At Pace, Jordan was co-captain of Pace's Federal Reserve Challenge team, which went on to take the top spot in a national competition. He joined the Federal Reserve as a Financial Analyst and went on to get his master's degree at Johns Hopkins University in Applied Economics.

WHERE HONORS COLLEGE

ALUMNI WORK:

Apple
Dannon Company
Deloitte
EY
Goldman Sachs
Google
HBO
HuffPost
IBM
J.P. Morgan
Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center
Microsoft
MTV
NBCUniversal
New York District Attorney's Office
NYC Department of Education
PwC
Sony Music
Westchester Medical Center

PACE HONORS ALUMNI PURSUE GRADUATE DEGREES AT INSTITUTIONS INCLUDING:

Brown University
Columbia University
Cornell University
Duke University
George Washington University
Harvard Law School
Johns Hopkins University
New York College of Podiatric Medicine
New York Law School
New York University
Pace University
Pratt Institute

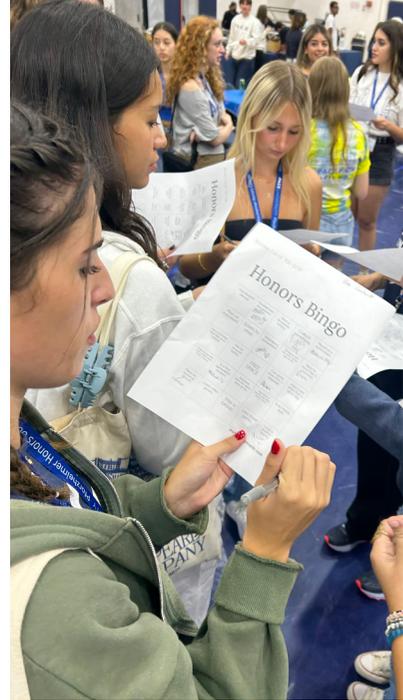

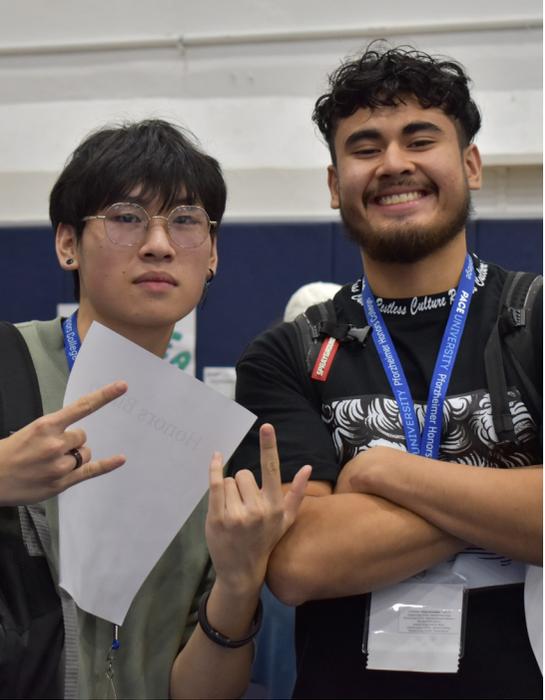

Cameron Maruszewski '23
BA in Art History / BA in Psychology

Pace's valedictorian speaker and president of Psi Chi International Honor Society in Psychology. With a double major, Cameron combined her love of helping people with her more recent interest in art history, discovered through her first semester Learning Community. The Honors College introduced her to interdisciplinary study and now she's pursuing her master's in forensic psychology.

Valeria Yamin '22
Rockette, Radio City Music Hall

While studying commercial dance at Pace, Valeria was invited to attend the Rockettes Conservatory to train in precision dancing, leading to her role as a Rockette. As one of several Honors students to become a Rockette, it is now a tradition for an annual Honors College trip to the Radio City Christmas Spectacular.

GET STARTED WITH THE PFORZHEIMER HONORS COLLEGE.

Connect with your Honors College advisor today to receive one-on-one mentoring, design your own four-year path, and schedule your courses—including Honors classes—from your first semester on. Settle into Honors housing and take part in all the great events the Honors College has to offer!

We hope to see you at the Pforzheimer Honors College soon!

<https://www.pace.edu/honors-college>

PACE
UNIVERSITY

NEW YORK CITY / WESTCHESTER

<https://www.pace.edu/honors-college>