COMMENCEMENT 2022

Honoring the Classes of 2020, 2021, and 2022

Monday, May 16, 2022

Message from the President

May 16, 2022

Dear Pace graduates, parents, families, and friends:

We made it.

After two of the most challenging years in recent history, after lockdowns and illness and worry, after remote events and Zoom ceremonies, you have arrived at Commencement 2022. It is a tremendous milestone, and a real testament to your resilience, dedication, and commitment.

Congratulations.

To the Pace University classes of 2020, 2021, and 2022: We couldn't be prouder of you. You kept your eyes on the prize, and you did the work needed to get you to graduation. You deserve every bit of praise we can give you for this great success.

To the parents, families, and friends supporting these graduates: You're part of their accomplishment, too. You helped them do the work, helped them be their best, helped them get to this ceremony. On the graduates' behalf, I want to thank you for everything you've done and will continue to do.

Students, you have whole lives and so many opportunities ahead of you. You have grown and explored here at Pace, but your worlds are about to get immeasurably larger. You'll have careers, families, and opportunities that you never imagined. As you grow and change, as the world changes, the skills you learned here will always stay with you: how to think, how to learn, how to be a leader in your field, how to be a valued part of your community. And I know the perseverance and resourcefulness that brought you to today have shown that you will accomplish anything you set your mind to.

As we send you into the world, I want you to remember Pace and the people you encountered here. This place and this community have made you who you are. You are part of the Pace family, and you'll always be welcome here. Career Services will always be available to you. The new Pace University Alumni Association will keep you connected. We will be here to support you as you move through your lives, and I hope you'll help us create opportunities for the next generation of Pace students.

I can't wait to see what you'll do next.

Sincerely,

Marvin Krislov
President

Honorary Degree Citation

Doctor of Humane Letters Mayor Eric Adams

Mayor Eric Adams knows what it takes to succeed.

Born in Brooklyn and raised in Queens, he watched his single mom clean houses to support her six kids. There wasn't always food on the table. They were often on the brink of homelessness. When he was 15 years old, he was arrested—and then beaten by officers in the basement of the 103rd Precinct.

Remarkably, Mayor Adams let that horrible experience push him forward. He remembered the respect afforded to the Black police officer who'd helped put an end to his assault. He was counseled by Reverend Herbert Daughtry, a community leader, that he could help change the police department from within. And so he decided to become a cop.

That determination changed his life. Mayor Adams earned an associate degree from New York City College of Technology while working, a bachelor's degree from the John Jay College of Criminal Justice, and eventually an MPA from Marist College. He spent more than two decades in the New York Police Department, rising to the rank of captain. He also co-founded the group 100 Blacks in Law Enforcement Who Care, pushing for reform of police culture.

He fought crime, and he fought police misconduct.

In 2006, Mayor Adams retired from the force to run for State Senate. He won, and he fought for New York City's values in Albany. He helped protect tenants and workers, stand up against gun violence, and advance human rights. He helped pass New York's landmark marriage equality bill.

In 2013, he was elected the first Black borough president of Brooklyn. He proudly advocated for his borough, strove to reduce inequality, and, when the pandemic hit, worked tirelessly to deliver meals and PPE to essential workers and vulnerable New Yorkers.

Last November, he was elected New York City's mayor. In that job, he is doing what he has always done—working to balance public safety with police accountability, fighting for those in need, and ensuring that the city remains prosperous. After two years of pandemic, he's also making sure New York comes back even stronger.

For his tireless commitment to the people of New York, for his inspiring example of what hard work can accomplish, and, yes, for his confident and resilient swagger, Pace University is proud to confer upon the Honorable Eric Adams, the 110th Mayor of New York City, the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa, with all the rights and privileges pertaining thereto.

Honorary Degree Citation

Doctor of Humane Letters

Baroness Ariane de Rothschild '88, MBA '90

Baroness Ariane de Rothschild is an accomplished financier, a successful entrepreneur, a generous philanthropist—and a two-time alumna of the Lubin School of Business at Pace University.

Born in El Salvador to French and German parents, she grew up in Bangladesh, Colombia, and Zaire, now known as the Democratic Republic of the Congo. She started her college career in Paris. But she wanted to study finance, and do it in New York. So, like countless other international students, she came to Pace. She earned her bachelor's degree from Lubin in 1988, and her Lubin MBA two years later.

She started her career here in New York, first at Société Générale, then at AIG, as the financial sector was powering a changing world. In 1999, she married Benjamin de Rothschild, and she dove into the family business. She first reorganized the philanthropic foundations, then the winemaking, farming, and hospitality activities, and she was also involved with the family's professional sailing team, the Gitana Team, which was then building the next generation of ships designed to fly on the open ocean. Starting in 2015, she assumed progressively greater leadership of the Edmond de Rothschild bank, transforming it into a banking group and a conviction-driven investment house.

With her first-hand knowledge of emerging countries and the belief that responsible finance can change the world, Madame de Rothschild has steered the banking group toward impact investing. As chair of its board of directors since 2019, she has instilled a spirit of engagement, boldness, and responsibility throughout the group. She is committed to education, environmental protection, advancing the status of women, dialogue between cultures, and addressing the responsibilities that come with transmission of wealth. These concerns have shaped her philosophy and underpinned her work.

"I have always struggled to say exactly what I do," she has said. "I dislike boxes. Banking is 70 percent of my time. The rest is the rest. I like to have an elastic brain." Like all the best students, she is committed to continual growth, constant change, lifelong learning.

For her many professional successes, for her commitment to innovation even as she preserves a legacy, and for the inspiring example she sets as a graduate of Pace University, we are proud to confer upon Baroness Ariane de Rothschild the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa, with all the rights and privileges pertaining thereto.

Honorary Degree Citation

Doctor of Law

Congresswoman Grace Meng

US House of Representatives, Sixth Congressional District of New York

Congresswoman Grace Meng, who is currently serving her fifth term in the United States House of Representatives, is a dedicated public servant with a long and accomplished career as a lawyer and legislator.

She is the first and only Asian American member of Congress from New York State and the first female member from Queens since former vice presidential nominee Geraldine Ferraro.

Representative Meng is a member of the House Appropriations Committee and is vice chair of its Subcommittee on State and Foreign Operations. She also sits on the Appropriations Subcommittee on Commerce, Justice, Science and Related Agencies, as well as the Subcommittee on Agriculture, Rural Development, Food and Drug Administration, and Related Agencies. She is a founder and co-chair of Kids' Safety Caucus, which promotes child-safety issues. Her work has served as an example to our faculty and students, and in 2021 our Women's Association of Law Students recognized her with its annual Pioneer of Justice Award.

Representative Meng has been responsible for several pieces of legislation including bills protecting religious freedom, making Queens historic sites part of the National Park Service, striking "Oriental" from federal law, and protecting public housing residents from the cold. She also championed measures to assist veterans and to improve consumer protections for children.

As a second-generation Chinese American, Representative Meng has spoken out against anti-Asian violence, and she has been a tireless advocate for immigrants' rights and immigration reform. She has also taken bold public stands against sexual assault and harassment of women, and in support of the #MeToo movement.

Parts of her Menstrual Equity for All Act have led to legislation making menstrual products available for incarcerated and detained individuals, allowing FEMA funds to be used to purchase menstrual products for those in need after natural disasters, and making menstrual products eligible for Flexible Spending Account purchases.

Born and raised in Queens, she attended local schools and graduated from Stuyvesant High School and the University of Michigan. She then earned a law degree from Yeshiva University's Benjamin Cardozo School of Law. She worked as a public-interest lawyer before entering public service as a member of the New York State Assembly, then Congress.

For her many professional accomplishments, her dedication to the law and commitment to public service, and her inspiring example to others both within and outside the legal profession, Pace University is honored to confer upon Congresswoman Grace Meng the degree of Doctor of Laws, honoris causa, with all the rights and privileges pertaining thereto.

Opportunitas in Action Awards

The Opportunitas in Action Award, bestowed by the president of Pace University, recognizes a leader who has made innovative, positive contributions to the community in the spirit of Pace's motto, Opportunitas.

Marco Damiani

CEO, AHRC New York City

Marco Damiani is a passionate advocate for New Yorkers with intellectual and developmental disabilities.

As chief executive officer of AHRC NYC, Damiani leads the largest organization in New York—and among the largest in the country—dedicated to supporting people who are neurodiverse and helping them to lead full and equitable lives. Founded in 1949, AHRC today employs a staff of 5,000 and touches the lives of more than 12,000 New Yorkers each year. Through its work, AHRC spreads its vision of a socially just world, where the power of difference is embraced, valued, and celebrated.

The challenges of the pandemic have been especially acute for those with disabilities. In May of last year, and under Damiani's leadership, AHRC partnered with Pace to host a daylong symposium that convened national leaders in disability rights, health-care, mental health, and diversity and inclusion to discuss the lived experience of people with disabilities during the pandemic and explore the intersectional and political determinants of health.

That kind of forward-looking, collaborative, and supportive search for solutions is a hallmark of Damiani's leadership. Through roles in city and state government and healthcare and social service organizations, his life's work is dedicated to helping those who need support.

Marco Damiani exemplifies the ideals of Opportunitas, and we are pleased to honor him with Pace University's 2022 Opportunitas in Action Award.

Joseph Kenner

CEO, Greyston

Joe Kenner knows how tough it can be to get a job.

As president and chief executive officer of Yonkers-based Greyston, Kenner leads a pioneering organization that unlocks the power of human potential through what they've dubbed Open Hiring—a hiring process that is open to anyone who wants to work, without background checks, resumes, or interviews. Over 40 years at its world-renowned Greystone Bakery—they make the brownies included in Ben & Jerry's products and packaged brownies for Whole Foods Market—Kenner's organization has offered jobs to hundreds of people who otherwise faced obstacles to employment.

Greyston breaks down barriers and transforms lives, much as a Pace education can break down barriers and transform lives. Its work is a virtuous circle: Through the Greyston Foundation, the bakery's parent company, the organization works to expand its Open Hiring model to other employers, and it also offers workforce education and training to local residents.

Kenner earned his MBA from the Lubin School of Business, and he uses his skills to make and lead positive change in the world.

Joseph Kenner exemplifies the ideals of Opportunitas, and we are pleased to honor him with Pace University's 2022 Opportunitas in Action Award.

Kenan Awards for Teaching Excellence

Pleasantville Kenan Award for Teaching Excellence

Ramón Emilio Fernández, PhD

Assistant Professor, Mathematics

Dyson College of Arts and Sciences

Professor Ramón Emilio Fernández joined Pace in 2016 and serves as the coordinator for developmental and first-year math courses.

Professor Fernández's teaching and research lie at the intersection of public education policy and high school mathematics content. His service is grounded in areas of justice, equity, diversity, and inclusion, as well as community service in public schools in the Bronx, and more recently in the Yonkers public school system. He leads various efforts at Pace University and has founded several. These include becoming co-coordinator of anti-racism education for Dyson, founding co-chair of the People of Color Collective, and founding faculty advisor to the Dominican and christian student associations.

Since joining Pace, Professor Fernández has trained over a dozen students in academic research in STEM, has mentored more than four dozen students, and remains devoted to student and faculty development. About half a dozen of his research mentees have secured graduate school positions in prestigious STEM programs and internships.

Kenan Awards for Teaching Excellence

New York City Kenan Award for Teaching Excellence

Anna Shostya, PhD

*Associate Professor, Economics
Dyson College of Arts and Sciences*

A native of Ukraine, Professor Anna Shostya is the Associate Economics Chair and faculty advisor for the Pforzheimer Honors College. Her major fields of study are transition economies, sustainable development, and higher education pedagogy.

Joining Pace faculty in 2000, Professor Shostya has designed and taught high-impact courses that cultivated students' curiosity and fostered life-long critical thinking skills. Her Learning Communities courses combined economics with other disciplines, such as political science and photography. For 10 years, she had also been a visiting lecturer at the University of Shanghai for Science and Technology. Her teaching in China helped her develop and teach a study-abroad course, From Wall Street to the Great Wall, that gave Pace students an opportunity to explore China's economy and culture first-hand.

Her passion for economics encouraged hundreds of young female students to explore the traditionally male-dominated discipline. Being a firm believer in undergraduate research, Professor Shostya has supervised Honors theses and research projects that students presented at the Society of Fellows and professional conferences. Her mentorship and dedication to student research—for which she received numerous mentorship awards—helped many of her students launch rewarding careers.

Professor Shostya is an avid photographer and has participated in several photo exhibitions. At Pace, she also organized numerous student photo exhibits that explored issues of inclusion and equity within an economic framework.

Matthew R. Marcello, PhD

*Associate Professor, Biology
Dyson College of Arts and Sciences*

Professor Marcello joined Pace University in 2013 and teaches genetics, advanced cell biology, reproductive biology, developmental biology, and toxicology. He also leads a laboratory group of undergraduate and master's-level researchers focused on understanding the molecular basis of sperm-egg interactions using C. elegans as a model organism. Former lab members have advanced to graduate programs, medical school, dentistry school, optometry school, veterinary school, and various biomedical careers. In addition, Professor Marcello conducts biology education research to determine effective teaching strategies.

Professor Marcello is a Partnership in Undergraduate Life Sciences Education (PULSE) Fellow, where he works with biology departments from other institutions to foster change in undergraduate biology education. He has led scientific teaching workshops to address challenges in STEM education at multiple institutions, including the New York Academy of Sciences, New York City College of Technology, and Rutgers University. He was named a National Academies Education Fellow in the Life Sciences for 2011–2012.

Prior to joining the faculty at Pace, Professor Marcello was a National Institutes of Health Institutional Research and Academic Career Development Awards (IRACDA) Postdoctoral Fellow at Rutgers University working in the lab of Andrew Singson, PhD. He received his bachelor's in molecular biology and microbiology from the University of Central Florida in 2003. Professor Marcello earned his PhD in biochemistry and molecular biology from the Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health in 2010 under the advisement of Janice P. Evans, PhD.

Distinguished Professor Award

The title of Distinguished Professor is the highest honor Pace University bestows upon a faculty member in recognition of a sustained record of extensive, extraordinary research and scholarship, outstanding teaching, and exemplary service to the University and community.

Theresa K. Lant, PhD

Professor, Management and Management Science
Lubin School of Business

Theresa K. Lant is a professor of management and Academic Director of the Arts and Entertainment Management Program at the Lubin School of Business and joined Pace in 2009. She is Board of Directors Chairperson of Arc Stages in Pleasantville, NY, a non-profit live theatre organization that provides educational programming, community theatre, and professional theatre. In her consulting practice, she provides team building and coaching for interdisciplinary teams in medicine and engineering.

Professor Lant is a graduate of the University of Michigan (AB 1981) and Stanford University (PhD 1987). She is an internationally recognized scholar whose work on learning and adaptation in teams and organizations is highly influential. Her current work focuses on interdisciplinary teams in science, engineering and medicine. She received a National Science Foundation grant in 2013 to support this research, which is also highlighted in the National Academies of Science, Engineering, and Medicine report entitled, Enhancing the Effectiveness of Team Science (2015).

Formerly a senior editor at Organization Science, a top tier management journal, she now serves on the editorial review board of the Informing Science Institute Journal and is a founding member and reviewer of the International Network for the Science of Team Science (INSciTS). She has served in a variety of leadership roles in the Academy of Management and the INFORMS College on Organization Science.

Her publications have appeared in Clinical and Translational Science, Small Group Research, Group and Organization Management, Journal of Economic Behavior and Organization, Journal of Management, Management Science, Organization Science, and Strategic Management Journal.

Ellease Ebele N. Oseye, MFA

Professor, English
Dyson College of Arts and Sciences

Professor Ellease Ebele N. Oseye, born in Brooklyn, New York, is in her 49th year of teaching at the university-level and her 47th year teaching at Pace University, having joined in 1975. When one of her professors at Columbia University asked if she planned to teach, her immediate response was no. However, he insisted that she had to teach at least one course and he arranged a class for her in the Ethnic Studies Department at the Borough of Manhattan Community College, where she taught for 20 years. He also told her to apply when there was an opening at Pace University. The rest is history. Students have many photographs of her classes' visits to museums and theaters. At Pace, she was Poet-in-Residence for 13 years and advisor for the Black Student Union.

Professor Oseye (Ellease Southerland) is the author of Let the Lion Eat Straw, voted a notable book by New York Public Libraries, winner of the Coretta Scott King Book Award, and published in Japanese. Professor Oseye is included in The Oxford Companion to African American Literature, edited by Andrews, Foster, and Harris; Contemporary Authors, Volume 107, "Gale", The Heritage Series of Black Poetry, 1962–1975, Edited by Lauri Ramey.

Her academic and professional honors include: Gwendolyn Brooks Award for poetry, 1972, NAACP; Image Award, Pace University 2003; Member Panel of Judges for Fiction, NYS Council for the Arts, 1992; Fellow of the African Studies Institute of the University of Nigeria August 1998; Ankh Award for Scholarly Initiative, and the 14th Annual Cheikh Anta Diop International Conference.

2022 Trustee Award

The Trustee Award is presented to the graduating student or students whose positive contributions to University life and whose academic accomplishments exemplify the highest level of achievement attainable for an undergraduate.

New York City

Maria Elisa Escobar will graduate Pace as one of its premier student leaders. Throughout her undergraduate career, she has consistently demonstrated an exemplary dedication toward improving the Pace Community for the better.

In the classroom, Maria Elisa has been one of the University's best and brightest students. Earning her Bachelor of Arts in Women's and Gender Studies alongside minors in psychology and peace and justice studies, Maria Elisa also boasts a 3.88 GPA. As a result, she has earned praise from her faculty chair as a top student who not only demonstrates a strong grasp of content but is also able to positively transform classroom environments by pushing new students to think in new and exciting ways. As a member of the Women's Leadership Initiative during her first year on campus, she demonstrated a penchant for academic leadership, even amidst upper-level students.

Maria Elisa has devoted much of her undergraduate career to the anti-trafficking movement. After volunteering with World Without Exploitation, she co-founded WorldWE Youth Coalition, a national youth-led network that uses advocacy, educational, and awareness raising initiatives to end sexual exploitation and human trafficking. In her two years since co-founding the Youth Coalition, Maria Elisa has had the experience of organizing two virtual summits that mobilized over 1,000 young people across the country.

Additionally, she received an undergraduate research grant in Fall 2021 to undertake participatory action research with the WorldWE Youth Coalition titled The Passion for Change Knows No Age: An Exploration of Youth Leadership in the Anti-Trafficking Movement. In her capstone project, she examined the role of young people working in a national coalition of organizations dedicated to ending sexual exploitation and human trafficking, and considered how youth addresses gaps in the movement, generates new strategies to advocate for change, and activates other young people to participate in political spaces. Through this work, she was invited by the United Nations to speak at the 65th annual Commission on the Status of Women—serving as an important representative to a majorly influential group regarding this pressing issue.

For her commitment to Pace and her extraordinary accomplishments in leadership and academic achievement, it is a pleasure to award Maria Elisa Escobar the 2022 Trustee Award.

Pleasantville

During her time at Pace University, Naya J. Rivera has maintained a steadfast commitment to serving the Pace Community through exemplary leadership, service, and academic excellence.

Earning a combined degree—a bachelor's in adolescent education and biology alongside a master's in special education—Naya was able to balance her exceptional academic pedigree with a steadfast commitment to leadership service outside the classroom. As a model student at the School of Education, Naya earned a 3.97 cumulative GPA while maintaining an active role as a prominent scholar athlete. Rivera, a captain of Pace's women's basketball team, helped the Setters rebound exceptionally from the setbacks of the past few years—after the 2020–2021 season was canceled due to the COVID-19 pandemic, she led the team to a deep run in the NCAA tournament, winning the East Regional title en route to only the third Elite Eight appearance in program history.

In the educational realm, Naya consistently participated in and presented student research with faculty mentors throughout her time at Pace. Some of her most notable projects include work on the use of avatar simulations for the training of pre-service teachers working with parents; and original work with School of Education faculty members to develop teaching modules that explicitly raise social justice and race in the context of these interactions, aiming to elevate equity in the work of teacher education. For this project, Naya was selected to present at the American Educational Research Association, considered one of the premier conferences in the field.

Rivera has also been committed to making a difference through action. During the pandemic, she was one of the first students to volunteer for a pilot program to provide online tutoring to students at a school in Ossining, NY. Based on her exceptional performance, she was hired during her senior year as a technology teacher for the middle school—a role she was able to thrive in alongside her many other obligations. When it comes to volunteering for events on campus, Naya has often lent a helping hand, such as spearheading an implicit bias in the classroom workshop for Pace's annual Social Justice Week.

For her commitment to Pace and her extraordinary accomplishments in leadership and academic achievement, it is a pleasure to award Naya J. Rivera the 2022 Trustee Award.

2022 Community Service Award

The Community Service Award is presented to the graduating student or students whose active contributions to the life of the University community and to the endeavors of our neighbors in the surrounding community most admirably embody an appreciation for the value of social responsibility.

New York City

Throughout her time at Pace Alexandra Marie Kennedy has maintained a strong commitment to excellence, service, and justice, culminating in an undergraduate experience where she has been unwavering in her focus to truly make a difference.

Earning her Bachelor of Arts in Sociology and Anthropology alongside minors in critical race and ethnicity studies and nonprofit studies, Alex has complemented her wide range of academic interests with outstanding achievement—earning a 3.68 GPA, while also being awarded the opportunity to conduct original research through the provost's 2021 undergraduate student-faculty research program. Through her academic interests, she has been able to link her curricular and cocurricular involvements around tenets of social responsibility and justice.

Perhaps Alex's most profound impact has been her role in co-founding Fare Trade, a sustainable mutual aid initiative addressing food insecurity on the New York City Campus. Created as part of the prestigious United Nations Millennial Fellowship program, Fare Trade allows individuals to reallocate meal plan money to the accounts of undergraduate students who recognize themselves as food insecure. Alex also forged a partnership between the Office of Multicultural Affairs, Provisions Food Pantry—where she has worked as a student coordinator—and the community-organization Invisible Hands Deliver, a symbiotic partnership that allows Pace students to volunteer to deliver food from the Provisions pantry to members of the local community unable to access the food pantry on campus.

Additionally, Alex has shown a strong commitment to civic engagement. She was a Vote Everywhere Volunteer during the 2020–2021 school year with the Center of Community Action and Research, receiving training in voter education and supported her peers in exercising the right to vote during the November 2020 general election and spring 2021 NYC primaries. She's also involved in the NAACP student organization chapter at Pace and Circle K, a student group focused on organizing community service and leadership opportunities for fellow Pace students. Through her many engagements, Alex has modeled what social responsibility looks like to both her peers as well as professionals on campus.

For exemplifying the core values of Opportunitas and Pace University, today we honor Alexandra Marie Kennedy with the 2022 Community Service Award.

Pleasantville

Irach'e "Shea" Teague has made a significant impact while at Pace. Through an impressive combination of strong academic achievement and an unwavering commitment to service and action, Shea will graduate as one of the University's most valued student leaders.

Earning a Bachelor of Arts in English with a concentration in creative writing, Shea has impressively balanced her academics with a wide range of extracurricular achievements—demonstrating that a well-rounded Pace education is not solely confined to the classroom. As the vice president of the Student Government Association, Shea has personally made sure there is an organization for everyone, guiding individuals through the process of proposing and implementing new student organizations such as Active Minds, a new student group focused on student mental health. She has also ensured that organizations are compliant with University policies, helping groups positively contribute to overall the fabric of the University.

Shea has long been an exemplary advocate for student needs. Throughout the pandemic she served on a sub-committee as part of the University's COVID-19 Task Force, ensuring that student concerns are raised and adequately addressed. She has also continued to advocate for students as a Resident Assistant, where she has striven to create a safe and vibrant community for residents through targeted programming to increase student competencies in areas ranging from multicultural understanding to personal finance and academic success. Shea's first-year interest group helped bring the Campus Food Pantry to Pleasantville, and she continues to volunteer with the pantry and works to address food insecurity on campus and beyond.

Additionally, Shea has consistently shown a strong penchant for being an impactful community leader. For example, she was instrumental in helping make Pleasantville's DJ Henry mural possible—which honors the life of Danroy "DJ" Henry, a Pace student who was killed by a Pleasantville police officer in 2010. She executed the plan, found the artist, worked on the budgeting, got the necessary approvals from the University, worked to plan the unveiling, and raised over $600 for the DJ Henry Dream Fund to boot.

For exemplifying the core values of Opportunitas and Pace University, today we honor Irach'e "Shea" Teague with the 2022 Community Service Award.

2022 Elisabeth Haub School of Law Dean's Award

The Elisabeth Haub School of Law Dean's Award is presented to a graduating student in the full and/or part-time program who best demonstrates academic excellence, leadership, and service to the law school and community.

Madison Renee Shaff

Madison Renee Shaff has been an exemplary student leader during her time at the Elisabeth Haub School of Law, demonstrating outstanding commitment to academic excellence, public service, community spirit, diversity, equity, and inclusion.

At Haub Law, she focused her studies on environmentalism, international rights, and social justice. In her final year alone, Madison drafted successful motions for the International Union for the Conservation of Nature (IUCN). Her motion aims to prevent future zoonotic diseases like COVID-19. She also worked for the Environmental Protection Agency's Waste and Chemical Enforcement Division and became a published author. She then went on to present her paper, "International Law and Climate Displacement: Why a Climate Justice Approach is Needed" at the first Symposium on Legal System Changes to Address Climate Change and the Energy Transition held in Texas in April.

While earning her environmental certificate, Madison has also prioritized community at the law school, spearheading many programs and initiatives as President of the Law School's Student Bar Association. She has used her platform to consistently address intersections of legal education and social issues. She founded and implemented the first-ever free textbook exchange at Haub Law to ensure resources for students who could otherwise not afford their course books. Now, the library is a success with more than 400 books in exchange each semester. Madison also founded the Peer Leader program, assigning upper-level students to incoming first-year students, and organized the first-ever suicide prevention walk at Haub Law. The event raised $6,000 for the American Foundation for Suicide Prevention, which brought participants and speakers together from across the state to create awareness of mental health.

Madison continues to utilize her platform to amplify other voices. During her final semester, she commenced a legislative proposal to Haub School for implementing new diversity requirements for student learning. Madison feels that part of being a successful lawyer means challenging our own biases, continuing our learning, and redefining the status quo to be the best for all people.

For her demonstrated academic excellence, leadership, and service to the law school and community, the Elisabeth Haub School of Law honors Madison Renee Shaff with the 2022 Dean's Award.

Academic Regalia

The history of academic dress dates back to the early days of the oldest universities. A statute of 1321 required all "Doctors, Licentiates, and Bachelors" of the University of Coimbra to wear gowns. In England, during the second half of the 14th century, the statutes of certain colleges forbade "excess in apparel" and prescribed the wearing of a long gown. It is still a question whether academic dress finds its sources chiefly in ecclesiastical or in civilian dress. Gowns may have been worn for warmth in the unheated buildings frequented by medieval scholars, while hoods seem to have served to cover the tonsured head until replaced by the skull cap. In time, the skull cap was replaced by the mortarboard caps that are used widely today.

In 1895, the Intercollegiate Bureau of Academic Costume was formed to establish a suitable code of academic dress for the colleges and universities of the United States. The academic costume code recognizes three types of gowns, usually black. The gown for the bachelor's degree has pointed sleeves. The gown for the master's degree has long, closed sleeves with the arc of a circle near the bottom. A doctor's gown is faced with velvet, and has full, round, open sleeves bearing three bars of velvet on each sleeve. The velvet facing and bars may either be black or the color distinctive of the subject to which the degree pertains. The hood is made of a material identical to the gown and is lined in the official academic color of the institution conferring the degree. When the institution has more than one color, the chevron is used to introduce the second color. For Pace University, the official colors found in the hood are blue and gold. Colored velvet or velveteen binds the hood and indicates the subject to which the degree pertains.

For all academic purposes, the colors associated with the various subjects at Pace University are as follows:

Arts, Letters, Humanities	White
Commerce, Accountancy, Business	Drab
Education	Light Blue
Fine Arts	Brown
Health Professions, Communication Sciences and Disorders	Sage
Health Professions, Health Science	Sage
Health Professions, Nursing	Apricot
Health Professions, Physician Assistant	Kelly Green
Journalism, Publishing	Crimson
Law	Purple
Psychology	Royal Blue
Public Administration	Peacock Blue
Science	Golden Yellow

Honor Societies

Pace University strives to foster intellectual growth, ethical maturity, civic responsibility, and professionalism in specific disciplines. Honor societies at Pace University play a vital role in advancing these goals. All national and international honor societies recognize academic excellence, promote scholarship, and enrich the educational experience. Members benefit from fellowship between students, faculty, and active professionals. Honor societies are keys that open doors to graduate school, career opportunities, and professional development. Membership in an honor society bestows honor, recognition, and lifetime distinction.

Students who are members in national and international honor societies are distinguished by wearing a colored cord around their neck. The colors and the honor society they represent are as follows:

Alpha Chi – National College Honor Scholarship Society
Cord Colors: Blue and Gold

Alpha Iota Delta – National Honor Society in the Decision Sciences (Lubin)

In Recognition of Pace University Student Veterans

Pace University remains committed to providing high-quality and affordable education to our veteran students who have served our nation with honor and distinction. We feel privileged to have you as members of the Pace Community, now and in the future. We know that your contributions have enriched our academic and student life beyond measure. We recognize your service and sacrifice and wish you the very best in your future personal and career endeavors.

Our graduating student veterans are distinguished by the cords that indicate the branch of service that they served within the United States Armed Forces.

Traditional Symbols

In addition to the regalia and finery customarily worn by University faculty and officers, formal academic ceremonies often include colorful signs and symbols representing the history and traditions of university life as well as specific aspects of the university being celebrated.

Flags

At Pace University ceremonies, in addition to the flags of the United States, the state of New York, and of the University, the president is represented by a swallow-tail flag of a blue field with a gold border bearing the University seal in pale blue, ringed by the inscription "Office of the President."

Each school/college within the University (College of Health Professions, Dyson College of Arts and Sciences, Elisabeth Haub School of Law, Lubin School of Business, the School of Education, and the Seidenberg School of Computer Science and Information Systems) is signified by a blue and gold banner with the school/college name and University logo.

Maces

The mace was developed as an armor-crushing weapon in the 13th century. Battle axes and maces were formidable chivalric tools of combat and warfare. They became symbols of authority, commanding attention and respect for the bearer, and were associated with those responsible for protecting the king's person. By the 16th century, maces were ornately designed and decorated with jewels and precious metals, often crafted with elegant architectural motifs.

At Pace University, the dean for students carries two maces. One is a replica of a Gothic battle mace with a head formed by five flanges, topped by a fluted conical finial. The rondel consists of a rusticated wood shaft attached to a metal cylindrical base, all of which is brass plated and inscribed with the words "Pace University." The mace was introduced in 1968 at the first commencement held on the Pleasantville Campus. The second mace was first used in 1927 at commencement exercises of Good Counsel College, which became the College of White Plains and which was consolidated in 1975 with Pace University. The brass and wood mace is topped by a sphere and a formée cross with a garnet at its center. The rondel, consisting of two brass sections separated by a ribbed wooden grip, has a sphere at its base, which bears the inscription "Pace University."

University marshals carry batons that represent the schools/colleges of the University. The University seal is mounted on each end of the baton, which is made of American walnut. The name of each person who has served as dean of the school/college is engraved on a brass plate affixed to the school/college baton.

Verge

The verge, an elongated mace or staff carried by the grand marshal, is made of Honduran rosewood. It is topped by a replica of a bronze-coated copper globe made in 1510, which is the earliest existing representation depicting the discoveries of Christopher Columbus in the Western Hemisphere. Beneath the globe, each Pace campus is represented by ribbons of the campus color: green for New York City, blue for Pleasantville, and red for White Plains. The upper section of the shaft is inlaid with rare woods representing the four reaches of the world: ebony, teak, olive, and oak.

The Centennial Medallion (retired)

The medallion was struck in commemoration of the University's Centennial in 2006. Both the Chair of the Board of Trustees and the University President wore the Centennial Medallion, which is made of bronze and layered with silver plate. The face of the medallion is the Pace University seal and the reverse bears the engraved image of the Centennial mark.

The Centennial Staff

The University President carries an ornate staff that was crafted in 2006 to commemorate the University's Centennial. The Centennial Medallion set in brass tops the staff, which is almost six feet in height and made of solid wood.

The presidential flag, verge, and school/college batons were designed by John Mulgrew, Professor of Fine Arts.

The school/college banners were designed by Aliatu Burke.

The Centennial staff was designed by David Grupper.

The Centennial staff was crafted by Michael Fayed, Master Wood Turner.

Welcome to the Pace Alumni Community

Congratulations, Class of 2022!

Today, you become official members of the Pace University Alumni Association. You join our network of more than 160,000 talented alumni worldwide and share one of the most significant milestones in your life in common: Pace University. Regardless of where you may live or what career you choose to pursue in the future, you and your classmates will remain connected to each other by your Pace experience.

You are joining a diverse, strong, successful network that will remain open to you as you look for new opportunities, change jobs or careers, or relocate. We encourage you to share your Pace Pride and seek out other alumni in your community, network, and workplace.

As we welcome you to the Pace Alumni Association, we hope that you will remain connected to your alma mater. Please visit us often and enjoy the many programs, benefits, and services that are available to our alumni through the Alumni Association. Visit our website at <https://www.alumni.pace.edu> for more information about participating in exclusive alumni events and programs, alumni affinity groups and committees, staying connected, and last—but not least—volunteer and mentorship opportunities.

We want to continue to hear from you. Please contact us at 1 (877) 8-ALUMNI or pacealum@pace.edu with questions and suggestions.

We would also like to acknowledge those of you who chose to pay it forward by participating in our senior class gift. Thank you so much for doing so.

We wish you all the best in your future endeavors, and we look forward to seeing you at our alumni events.

Sincerely,

Sabrina A. Griffin '92
