COMMENCEMENT 2023

Monday, May 15, 2023

Message from the President

May 15, 2023

Dear Pace graduates, parents, families, and friends:

You did it.

To the students in the Pace University Class of 2023: You worked hard, you set goals, and you achieved them. You took advantage of the opportunities offered to you, and despite unprecedented challenges, you achieved what you set out to. We couldn't be prouder of you. You deserve every bit of praise we can give you for this great accomplishment.

To the parents, families, and friends supporting these graduates: You're part of their success, too. You helped them do the work, helped them be their best, and helped them get to this ceremony. On the graduates' behalf, I want to thank you for everything you've done and will continue to do.

Students, you have whole lives and so many opportunities ahead of you. You have grown and explored here at Pace, but your worlds are about to get immeasurably larger. You'll have careers, families, and opportunities that you never imagined. As you grow and change, as the world changes, the skills you learned here will always stay with you: how to think, how to learn, and how to be a valued part of your community. I know the perseverance and resourcefulness that brought you to today have demonstrated that you will accomplish anything you set your mind to.

As we send you into the world, I want you to remember Pace and the people you encountered here. This place and this community have made you who you are. You are part of the Pace family, and you'll always be welcome here. Career Services will always be available to you. The Pace University Alumni Association will keep you connected. We will be here to support you as you move through your lives, and I hope you will help us create opportunities for the next generation of Pace students.

I can't wait to see what you'll do next.

Sincerely,

Telfar Clemens '08

Telfar Clemens '08 has lived a classic Pace success story—and done it with his own inimitable style.

Clemens was born to Liberian parents in Queens; his father had earned an MBA at Pace a few years earlier. The family returned to their home country when Telfar was very young, but in 1990 the First Liberian Civil War forced them to return to the United States. At P.S. 206, a teacher drew monograms for every student in the class: for Clemens, a T inside a round C. Today, it's the logo for his wildly successful fashion brand, Telfar.

When Clemens arrived at Pace in the fall of 2003, he was already designing his own creations. While he studied at the Lubin School of Business, he also dove into the downtown worlds of music, culture, and fashion. In the model of countless Pace generations before him, he hustled: He got up early for his classes, he spent his afternoons working on his collections, and worked as a DJ at night to earn money. Biking around the city, he was inspired by street styles; looking at his friends, he saw gender lines breaking down. In 2005, while still a student, he founded his label, producing accessible, unisex items built on principles of fluidity and inclusivity.

He graduated from Pace with a degree in business management, and he quickly established himself as an insider's designer, with his clothes worn by people who worked in the industry. In 2017, he won the coveted CFDA/Vogue Fashion Fund Award, and he invested its prize of $400,000 in production of the Telfar Shopping Bag—now lovingly known as “the Bushwick Birkin” for its status as an accessible icon.

The Telfar brand's tagline is “Not for you, for everyone.” As the label has grown, it has stayed true to its roots. Clemens controls all his own production. New releases are made available, democratically, to those who sign up online. The bags are made from vegan leather.

Telfar Clemens is a fashion force to be reckoned with. But he's done it his own way, and he hasn't strayed from his roots. When he's in New York City, he still lives in the family home in LeFrak City in Queens, where he started out all those years ago. He is a model and an inspiration to countless young people, and especially to students at Pace today.

For his creative and inspiring vision, for his hard work and success, and for his commitment to accessibility, community, and lifting up others, Pace University is proud to confer upon Telfar Clemens the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa, with all the rights and privileges pertaining thereunto.

Honorary Degree Citation

Doctor of Law

Senator Elizabeth Warren, JD

Senator Elizabeth Warren is a fearless consumer advocate who has made her life's work the fight for middle class families. She was elected to the United States Senate on November 6, 2012, by the people of Massachusetts.

Sen. Warren is recognized as one of the nation's top experts on bankruptcy and the financial pressures facing middle class families. She is widely credited for the original thinking, political courage, and relentless persistence that led to the creation of the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau. President Barack Obama asked her to set up the new agency to hold Wall Street banks and other financial institutions accountable, and to protect consumers from financial tricks and traps often hidden in mortgages, credit cards, and other financial products.

In the aftermath of the 2008 financial crisis, Sen. Warren served as Chair of the Congressional Oversight Panel for the Troubled Asset Relief Program. Her independent and tireless efforts to protect taxpayers, to hold Wall Street accountable, and to ensure tough oversight of both the Bush and Obama Administrations won praise from both sides of the aisle.

Sen. Warren was a law professor for more than 30 years, including nearly 20 years as the Leo Gottlieb Professor of Law at Harvard Law School. The graduating class at Harvard twice recognized her with the Sacks-Freund Award for excellence in teaching. She taught courses on commercial law, contracts, and bankruptcy. She also wrote more than 100 articles and 10 books, including three national best-sellers: A Fighting Chance, The Two-Income Trap, and All Your Worth. National Law Journal named her one of the Most Influential Lawyers of the Decade, Time magazine has named her one of the 100 Most Influential People in the World four times, and she has been honored by the Massachusetts Women's Bar Association with the Lelia J. Robinson Award.

Sen. Warren is a graduate of the University of Houston and Rutgers School of Law.

For her dedication to the law, for her commitment to public service, and for her inspiring example to others both within and outside the legal profession, Pace University is honored to confer upon Sen. Elizabeth Warren the degree of Doctor of Laws, honoris causa, with all the rights and privileges pertaining thereunto.

Honorary Degree Citation

Doctor of Law

Bruce H. Mann, MPhil, JD, PhD

Professor Bruce H. Mann is an American legal scholar and legal historian who has been teaching at Harvard Law School since 2006, where he is the Carl F. Schipper Jr. Professor of Law. He teaches courses in American legal history and property. His research focuses on the relationship among legal, social, and economic change in the American Revolutionary era.

Professor Mann's academic career includes visiting or permanent professor positions at Washington University in St. Louis, University of Connecticut School of Law, University of Houston Law Center, University of Texas School of Law, University of Michigan Law School, University of Pennsylvania Law School, and Princeton University. He has received five teaching awards—one at Washington University and four at the University of Pennsylvania, including the university-wide Christian R. and Mary F. Lindback Foundation Award for Distinguished Teaching.

Professor Mann is the author of Republic of Debtors: Bankruptcy in the Age of American Independence (2002), which received the SHEAR Book Prize from the Society for Historians of the Early American Republic, the Littleton-Griswold Prize from the American Historical Association, and the J. Willard Hurst Prize from the Law and Society Association. He is also the author of Neighbors and Strangers: Law and Community in Early Connecticut (1987) and multiple articles published in law reviews and history journals. He is the co-editor of the book The Many Legalities of Early America (2001). He is a Fellow of the Massachusetts Historical Society, an elected Member of the American Antiquarian Society, and a past president of the American Society for Legal History.

Professor Mann is a graduate of Brown University. He received his JD, MPhil, and PhD from Yale University.

For his distinguished contributions to the legal profession, for his ongoing dedication to academic excellence, and for his unwavering commitment to legal education, Pace University is honored to confer upon Professor Bruce H. Mann the degree of Doctor of Laws, honoris causa, with all the rights and privileges pertaining thereunto.

Opportunitas in Action Award

The Opportunitas in Action Award, bestowed by the president of Pace University, recognizes a leader who has made innovative, positive contributions to the community in the spirit of Pace's motto, Opportunitas.

Aldrin Enis

President, One Hundred Black Men of New York

Aldrin Enis is dedicated to making a difference.

He is president of One Hundred Black Men of New York, a group created by prominent community leaders in 1963 with the mission of achieving meaningful gains for the Black community in New York City. It is the founding chapter of what is now a national community-based mentoring group, One Hundred Black Men of America.

For nearly a decade, Pace University has partnered with One Hundred Black Men of New York to host an annual cohort of the group's Junior One Hundred Legacy Program, which provides mentorship and fosters leadership and collaboration skills among BIPOC young men from New York City high schools while exposing them to postsecondary educational opportunities, financial literacy, and both traditional and nontraditional career paths.

Elected the group's 11th president at the end of 2020, Enis confronted the unique challenges of leading it through COVID-19, and he ensured that its partnership with Pace continued despite the pandemic. The Junior One Hundred Program lived on virtually for two years, and in 2023 returned in person. Fully committed to Pace's longstanding mission of Opportunitas, Enis speaks regularly of the importance of expanding opportunities for BIPOC youth and of the power of higher education.

As OHBM's president, Enis is prioritizing expanding the group's youth and adolescent programs while heightening awareness of mental health needs and resources for young people. He has encouraged the OHBM staff working on the Junior One Hundred Legacy program to further engage with Pace and to take an intentional approach in planning the program's content. He is eager to see the program expand further and serve even more young people.

Enis holds a Bachelor of Arts in economics from the State University of New York at Albany and a Master of Business Administration from Seton Hall University. He exemplifies the ideals of Opportunitas, and we are very pleased to present him with Pace University's 2023 Opportunitas in Action Award.

Kenan Awards for Teaching Excellence

New York City Kenan Award for Teaching Excellence

Elmer-Rico Mojica, PhD

*Associate Professor, Chemistry and Physical Sciences
Dyson College of Arts and Sciences*

Professor Elmer-Rico E. Mojica joined Pace in 2011 and teaches general chemistry, analytical chemistry, and instrumental analysis courses. With a teaching career that started in 1998, he successfully incorporates popular media in teaching chemistry—dubbed as “CHEMTERTAINMENT”—which adds excitement to the challenging courses he teaches.

As a researcher, Professor Mojica specializes in analytical chemistry, having worked on various instrumental techniques (chromatography, spectroscopy, and electrochemistry), analyzing chemicals of interest to biochemistry, nutrition, food science, and environmental science. He promotes undergraduate research with a 75-member research group called Mojica Research Group, also known as T.E.A.M. E.L.M.E.R or Together Everyone Achieves More and Every Lab Member Experience Research. Team E.L.M.E.R. is active in presenting at scientific conferences, and obtaining grants and awards, of which 36 have publications in peer-reviewed journals. He successfully incorporates undergraduate research components in several of his courses.

Professor Mojica is also the Program Director of the Collegiate Science and Technology Entry Program (CSTEP), a New York state-funded grant that provides academic enrichment and research experience in STEM content areas for low income and underrepresented minority students.

Zhan Zhang, PhD

*Assistant Professor, Information Technology
Seidenberg School of Computer Science and Information Systems*

Professor Zhang's research spans human-computer interaction and healthcare informatics. Since joining Pace in the fall of 2017, he has been the recipient of one million dollars in research grants from federal agencies, including the National Science Foundation (NSF), and the Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality (AHRQ).

In 2023, Professor Zhang received the NSF CAREER award, the most prestigious award for junior faculty across the US from a federal agency. Professor Zhang has taught undergraduate and graduate-level courses on the New York City and Pleasantville campuses. He integrates his research into teaching while creating an interdisciplinary curriculum to foster collaboration among students from different disciplines. He uses novel strategies (e.g., working with non-profit organizations) to provide experiential learning opportunities for his students.

Professor Zhang is committed to the creation of interdisciplinary programs as well as new courses to remain competitive with the latest industry trends and demands. This includes his contributions in launching two graduate programs, the MS in Human-Centered Design and the MS in Health Informatics. As an educator, Professor Zhang is committed to mentoring undergraduate and graduate students in conducting research through honors theses, master's and PhD dissertation projects, as well as independent studies. He has advised a diverse body of students, many of whom are first-generation, female, and minority students.

Pleasantville Kenan Award for Teaching Excellence

Julia Eisenberg, PhD

*Associate Professor, Management and Management Science
Lubin School of Business*

Professor Julia Eisenberg's research interests include collaboration among individuals and teams, leadership, and technology with a focus on distributed organizational context. She has more than 10 years of experience in the financial industry, having worked for Goldman Sachs, J.P. Morgan Private Bank, and Morgan Stanley as a product developer and manager in the technology and the finance divisions. Since joining the Lubin School of Business in 2014, Professor Eisenberg has taught a range of undergraduate and graduate courses such as Human Resource Management, Organizational Behavior, and Negotiations, among others.

Professor Eisenberg has been involved in a variety of student-focused activities from organizing events to being a panel moderator. She often engages in career-related discussions with students, utilizing her industry background. She also works on a variety of research projects with students, including undergraduate honors theses, graduate research projects, and doctoral dissertations.

Professor Eisenberg continually attends domestic and international conferences to present her research. She actively publishes and serves as a reviewer for a number of leading management journals. In 2016, a paper co-authored by Professor Eisenberg received the Best Paper Award at the International Conference on Communication and Media. In 2018, Professor Eisenberg was one of the recipients of the Distinguished Research Award from the Institute for Global Business Research. In 2019, a paper co-authored by Professor Eisenberg received the Academy of Management Careers Division Best International Paper award.

New York City Teaching Excellence Award for Part-Time Faculty

Jaclyn Kopel, EdD

Associate Dean, Pforzheimer Honors College, and Adjunct Assistant Professor

Jaclyn Kopel began at Pace as a Summer Scholar and continued as an undergraduate Honors College student in the School of Education, graduating summa cum laude. After graduation, she taught at Pace High School, the Academy for Careers in Television and Film, and Pace's Upward Bound Program. Prior to joining the Pforzheimer Honors College as a staff member in 2013, she worked at Pace in the former Center for Academic Excellence, Undergraduate Admissions, and the Center for Urban Education. Professor Kopel teaches ancient history within the Dyson College of Arts and Sciences, where she also designed a course on Egyptology, and teaches product development within the Seidenberg School of Computer Science and Information Systems. She currently co-teaches two of the Living Learning Communities on the NYC Campus. She has accompanied and taught Pace students in Greece, Italy, Austria, and Finland. In 2018 she served for a year as the Interim Director of the New York City Design Factory. Professor Kopel advises the NYC Honors Seidenberg students and art students. She has served on numerous university committees and task forces and has presented at many national conferences.

Pleasantville Teaching Excellence Award for Part-Time Faculty

Kerriann Stout, JD

*Adjunct Assistant Professor, Elisabeth Haub School of Law
Political Science, Dyson College of Arts and Sciences*

Kerriann Stout is the founder and CEO of Vinco, a one-to-one academic and professional coaching company. Professor Stout has 10 years of teaching experience in higher education at the undergraduate, master's, and law school levels. She started in higher education in law school academic support at the Elisabeth Haub School of Law and the Vermont Graduate and Law School. Before moving into teaching and operating Vinco full-time, Professor Stout was a founding partner of Darian Stout, LLP, where she represented clients in immigration court. For many years, she was a columnist for Above the Law, writing about law school and the bar exam.

She is an Adjunct Instructor of Political Science at Pace University, an Adjunct Professor of Law at Haub Law, Boston College School of Law, and Cardozo Law school, and an Adjunct Professor of Online Learning at the Vermont Graduate and Law School. Her recent courses include: Public Policy, State and Local Government, Individual Liberties and the Bill of Rights, Leadership and Advocacy, Government Administration, Politics Through Film, Communication, Leadership and Advocacy, Legislation and Regulation, and a variety of bar exam preparation courses.

Professor Stout is a proud graduate of both Pace University ('09) and Haub Law ('13). Currently, she is pursuing her PhD in Political Science at the CUNY Graduate Center, where she is focusing on public policy and American politics with a specialization in the politics of disaster.

Inaugural Presidential Lifetime Achievement Award

The Presidential Lifetime Achievement Award is presented to the full-time faculty member who has demonstrated exemplary dedication to teaching, service, scholarship, a long-standing commitment to excellence in their discipline, and has made an indelible impact on Pace University.

Joseph Morreale, PhD

*Distinguished Professor, Economics
Dyson College of Arts and Sciences*

Joseph has 51 years of experience in academia as a teacher, scholar, and administrator at 7 major universities and colleges in the US and abroad: Pace University, Bard College, University of Pittsburgh, University of Wisconsin-Madison, Western Michigan University, University of Lancaster (UK), and University of Shanghai for Science and Technology in China. He received tenure at two different institutions. He is presently a full professor and Chair of the Economics Department at Pace University and was recently recognized as a University Distinguished Professor of Economics.

He has 21 years of experience in higher education administration including such positions as provost, senior associate provost, vice president, associate vice president, vice provost, division chair, and department chair. He has extensive administrative experience in strategic planning and assessment, academic program design, faculty development and vitality and multicampus management. He has recently served a full-term on the Executive Board of the International Atlantic Economic Society (2018–2020).

He is a dynamic and effective professor at the graduate and undergraduate levels in Economics, Master of Science in Applied Quantitative Economic Analysis and Public Policy, Master of Public Administration, Pforzheimer Honors College, and business degree programs. He redesigned numerous existing courses, introducing high-impact educational practices and innovative pedagogical methodology. He developed new courses that emphasize experiential learning, including a short study-abroad course to China—taught three times—and a senior capstone research course in economics. He mentored hundreds of students, many of whom presented their research at internal and external conferences, went on to prestigious graduate schools, and built lucrative careers.

Professor Morreale is an active researcher with wide-ranging scholarly experience in public finance and administration, health care economics, environmental economics, faculty development and evaluation, and program development in higher education. He is the author of six books, numerous book chapters, and peer-reviewed articles. He also has extensive consulting experience in budgeting and financial analysis, assessment, statistical analysis, management information systems, and distance education.

Barbara C. Salken Outstanding Professor of the Year Award

The Elisabeth Haub School of Law at Pace University Barbara C. Salken Outstanding Professor of the Year Award honors a professor(s) who displays incredible commitment and character to their students and has a keen interest in current events in the law and society.

Outstanding Professor of the Year Award for Full-Time Faculty

Bridget J. Crawford, JD, PhD

Distinguished Professor

Elisabeth Haub School of Law at Pace University

Professor Bridget J. Crawford joined the Haub Law faculty in 2003 and teaches Federal Income Taxation; Estate and Gift Taxation; Wills, Trusts and Estates; Tax Policy; Corporations & Partnerships; and Feminist Legal Theory. From 2008 through 2012, she served as the Law School's inaugural Associate Dean for Research and Faculty Development, then served again in that role in 2014-2015. Prior to joining Haub Law, she practiced law at Milbank, LLP.

Professor Crawford is a leading authority on taxation, wills and trusts, and feminist legal theory. She has published several books, book chapters, essays, and hundreds of law review articles in prestigious journals including the Washington University Law Review, The University of Chicago Legal Forum, Boston University Law Review, U.C. Davis Law Review, Washington & Lee Law Review. She has also written for specialty journals at Harvard, Yale, Columbia, the University of Pennsylvania, and the University of Michigan.

In 2021, Professor Crawford was named a Pace University Distinguished Professor, the highest honor the University can bestow upon a faculty member.

Outstanding Professor of the Year Award for Adjunct Faculty

Robin Frankel, JD

Adjunct Professor of Law

Elisabeth Haub School of Law at Pace University

Professor Frankel is a supervising attorney in the Barbara Salken Criminal Justice Clinic at Haub Law. She joined Haub Law as an Adjunct Professor of Law in 2012. A career public defender, she began practicing in 1987 in the Legal Aid Society Criminal Defense Division's Manhattan office and currently practices at its South Bronx office. She has tried over 60 cases to verdict.

Professor Frankel serves as a mentor for junior attorneys, externs, and interns. She has created a training on the handling of a felony designed for junior attorneys. Additionally, Professor Frankel has supervised Family Services of Westchester's Juvenile Law Program where she trained Haub Law students to conduct "Know Your Rights" and criminal law workshops for middle-school students. Professor Frankel is a frequent moot and mock trial judge, as well as a NITA program participant at Columbia, Hofstra, CUNY, and NY Law schools. Recently, Professor Frankel was responsible for dismissals on two wrongful arrest cases after she successfully convinced the prosecutor that their cases were based on misidentification of clothes. These cases—if not dismissed—could have led to decades of needless prison sentences for both innocent men.

2023 Trustee Award

The Trustee Award is presented to the graduating student or students whose positive contributions to University life and whose academic accomplishments exemplify the highest level of achievement attainable for an undergraduate

New York City

During her time at Pace, Marisa Medici has distinguished herself as a gifted student with a strong commitment to advocacy and a "go-getter" spirit.

Marisa has taken part in many programs at Pace, such as the Leadership Engagement and Action Program for first-generation college students; twice as Co-chair of the Program Selection Subcommittee for Social Justice Week; as tour guide for Pace's Welcome Center; and as an outreach volunteer for the Center for Community Action and Research, to name a few. Despite this wide roster of responsibility, she has remained committed to her studies as a double major and is graduating with a 3.98 GPA.

Marisa has also displayed a passion for civic engagement through voter education. She's worked as a Vote Everywhere Ambassador at the Andrew Goodman Foundation, where she registered 500 students to vote, and as a political public statements research intern at Vote Smart. In 2021, Marisa authored legislature and successfully lobbied to declare Election Day an asynchronous class day at Pace, a motion that was passed unanimously. Thanks to her efforts, Pace students will now be able to vote without compromising their course schedule.

Outside of Pace, Marisa furthered her political education as a constituent services and public affairs intern for Senate Democratic Majority Leader Charles Schumer and continued to expand her prowess in the field of public relations through several internships. To prepare herself for her intended career in human rights advocacy, Marisa completed a semester abroad, doing extensive human rights fieldwork in Nepal, Jordan, and Ecuador.

As a UN Academic Impact Millennium Fellow—an honor granted to only six percent of students globally—she and two other students tackled food insecurity on campus with the creation of Fare Trade, a mutual aid program that allows students to reallocate their meal plan funds to food insecure students. Fare Trade launched on the New York City Campus in 2021 and is now being developed on the Westchester Campus. Marisa also joined the administration's food insecurity task force to continue serving as a liaison for food insecure students.

Marisa's commitment to civic engagement, community service, and political advocacy have set her apart as a globally-minded leader with a bright future in advocacy.

For exemplifying the core values of Opportunitas and Pace University, today we honor Marisa Medici with the 2023 Trustee Award.

Pleasantville

During her time at Pace University, Tinuade McClish maintained a steadfast commitment to serving the Pace Community through exemplary leadership, service, and academic excellence.

Earning a bachelor's degree in psychology alongside a minor in creative writing, Tinuade has been able to balance her exceptional academic pedigree with a steadfast commitment to leadership and service outside the classroom. As a model student at the Dyson College of Arts and Sciences, Tinuade earned a 3.83 cumulative GPA while maintaining an active, visible role as a campus community leader. As an exemplary resident assistant, Tinuade has been dedicated to cultivating positive living environments by promoting social and academic well-being, and taking the time to understand individual student's needs, aiding in managing crisis situations and resolution. In simple terms, she has proven time and time again that she's there for her fellow Pace students.

Tinuade has immersed herself in several community-building endeavors during her time at Pace. As an excelsior scholar mentor, Tinuade has made strong connections with undergraduate BIPOC, working to encourage positive, productive college experiences. Through her role as Vice President of Communications of the Student Government Association, she ensured that the machinery of student government was able to function properly and effectively and built relationships and skills to advocate for student causes. And as a writing consultant for Pace's Learning Commons, Tinuade leveraged her skill set to improve students' motivation, learning, and success, helping to develop students into independent learners and promoting a diverse and inclusive learning environment.

In the educational realm, Tinuade has consistently challenged herself by exploring her academic interests outside of the classroom. She participated in the Pace's Student Faculty Undergraduate Research Award program, working with Associate Professor Courtney Gosnell to develop independent research examining how politically divisive media alters the way we perceive close friends and family members with opposing political views. Tinuade earned the Provost's Research Award, offered to only a handful of students each year, for both the 2021–2022 and 2022–2023 academic years.

For her commitment to Pace and her extraordinary accomplishments in leadership and academic achievement, it is a pleasure to award Tinuade McClish the 2023 Trustee Award.

2023 Community Service Award

The Community Service Award is presented to the graduating student or students whose active contributions to the life of the University community and to the endeavors of our neighbors in the surrounding community most admirably embody an appreciation for the value of social responsibility.

New York City

Tasfia Rahim's tireless commitment to social responsibility and community service has not only made a tangible difference in her community, but also helped her peers engage with activism.

In 2020, Tasfia partnered with the Center for Community Action and Research (CCAR) to increase voter education ahead of the presidential election. Her commitment to voter education continued well past the election as she continued to conduct online information sessions, course presentations, and trainings about local elections.

Tasfia further committed to serving her community by stepping into the role of Student Projects Coordinator for CCAR, where she worked with more than 50 students individually to match them with volunteer experiences. As part of this role, Tasfia also led a student-run advocacy campaign in support of the Immigrant Worker Freedom Act, which would provide citizenship to the nearly 2,000 undocumented workers who participated in 9/11 cleanup efforts in New York City.

She continued her record of service as the student co-chair of the Social Justice Week marketing committee in 2022 and partnered with CCAR as a volunteer for environmental nonprofits. Outside of Pace, Tasfia has interned with multiple local organizations, including as a SNAP navigator intern at the Council of the People's Organization in Brooklyn. At the Asian American Federation, she conducted research on anti-Asian hate legislation and presented three policy recommendations to New York State.

Some of her most impactful work has been done for the benefit of her Pace Community. Tasfia was selected as a UN Academic Impact Millennium Fellow, an honor offered to only six percent of students globally, and decided to address food insecurity on campus. She and two other Fellows created Fare Trade, a program that facilitates the redistribution of meal plan funds to food insecure students. Last year, over $600 was redistributed and Fare Trade is continuing to make an impact on the New York City Campus, with efforts underway to bring the program to Westchester. Though her Fellowship concluded, Tasfia remains a dedicated custodian to the program, also serving on two subcommittees on the new Food Insecurity Task Force.

Tasfia's unwavering dedication and infectious enthusiasm for community service has made a significant impact on her community that will continue to improve the lives of her peers.

For exemplifying the core values of Opportunitas and Pace University, today we honor Tasfia Rahim with the 2023 Community Service Award.

2023 Community Service Award

The Community Service Award is presented to the graduating student or students whose active contributions to the life of the University community and to the endeavors of our neighbors in the surrounding community most admirably embody an appreciation for the value of social responsibility.

Pleasantville

Alexa Slack has made a significant impact while at Pace. Earning a bachelor's degree in health science and a minor in public health, Alexa has excelled admirably in the classroom—earning an impressive 3.96 GPA and establishing herself as one of Pace's highest achieving students. Yet, it is her commitment to service that has demonstrated that a well-rounded Pace education is not solely confined to the classroom.

Alexa has long been an advocate for student needs, empowering her fellow Pace Setters to thrive in their own undergraduate experiences. Through her role as a University 101 Peer Leader, Alexa co-taught and mentored 21 first-year Honors students with assistance from a faculty advisor, equipping them with the know-how and support to succeed socially and academically. By working as an Honors First-Year Interest Group Mentor, she hosted monthly mentoring sessions with 50 first-year Honors students, and planned events and activities to build and foster community involvement. In addition, as the Pforzheimer Honors College Council's Community Service Liaison, Alexa coordinated community service activities between the Pforzheimer Honors College and other University groups, working with other council members to brainstorm and facilitate events.

Throughout her collegiate career Alexa maintained the foresight and drive to bring her fellow students together over meaningful issues, which was no small feat due to the many challenges posed by the COVID-19 pandemic. Her role as the President of the National Service Sorority Gamma Sigma Sigma further exemplifies her commitment to this type of service, as she regularly collaborated with members and philanthropies, raising thousands of dollars for altruistic causes. Outside of Pace, Alexa has most recently served as a Health Justice Intern for Westchester Medical Center, where she has conducted advocacy efforts and strategy development surrounding women's health initiatives.

Alexa's tireless commitment to service for others has extended to several other initiatives, including working as a Legislative Advocacy Changemaker Intern for PUSH for Empower, and helping to implement wellness programs in schools as an intern for HealthCorps. When it comes to advocating for the well-being of others, Alexa has consistently demonstrated she is up for the challenge.

For exemplifying the core values of Opportunitas and Pace University, today we honor Alexa Slack with the 2023 Community Service Award.

2023 Elisabeth Haub School of Law Dean's Award

The Elisabeth Haub School of Law Dean's Award is presented to a graduating student in the full and/or part-time program who best demonstrates academic excellence, leadership, and service to the law school and community.

Kaitlin Lauren Flores

Kaitlin Flores has been an exemplary student leader during her time at the Elisabeth Haub School of Law, demonstrating outstanding commitment to academic excellence, public service, community spirit, diversity, equity, and inclusion.

As a first-generation law student herself, Kaitlin founded the First-Generation Law Students Association (FGLSA) at Haub Law to create a space to help first-generation law students navigate law school successfully and have a community to grow and learn from. During her three years at Haub Law, she was also actively involved in LALSA, ELS, and Lambda. In addition to her campus involvement, Kaitlin is also involved with MetroLALSA, the Dominican Bar Association, and LatinoJustice.

Throughout the course of her studies at Haub Law, Kaitlin participated in the Food and Farm Business Law Clinic and the Access to Justice Lab. She was also a NYC Bar Corporate Law Diversity Fellowship recipient and is in the process of publishing her Law Review Note with the ABA Urban Lawyer.

A source of motivation for Kaitlin to attend law school was to break barriers and amplify the representation of Latinx lawyers in the profession, thereby increasing equity and contributing to diversity. Over the last three years, through her involvement and contributions to the Haub Law community, Kaitlin has broken many barriers. To her, the concept of "justice" is important and includes righting the wrongs of the past, ensuring those wrongs do not reoccur, and continuing to strive for a more equitable, more representative future.

For her demonstrated academic excellence, leadership, and service to the law school and community, the Elisabeth Haub School of Law honors Kaitlin Flores with the 2023 Dean's Award.

Chad J. Weiss

Chad Weiss has been an exemplary student leader during his time at the Elisabeth Haub School of Law, demonstrating outstanding commitment to academic excellence, public service, relationship building, and community spirit.

Chad is a member of the first graduating class of students enrolled in the Law School's Flex JD Scheduling Option. After running his own small business, Chad became aware of the added value that a law degree brings with it. With a passion for helping others, Chad plans to use his first-hand knowledge of running a business along with the newly gained asset of his law degree to assist individuals in their own entrepreneurial pursuits.

During his time at Haub Law, Chad continuously gave back to the community. He organized several donation drives for toys and food to benefit Feeding Westchester, The United Way, and many other local charities. Additionally, Chad represented the FLEX students as an active member of the Student Bar Association (SBA). For him, the most impactful academic experience was his participation in the Food and Farm Business Law Clinic.

Chad describes the best part of his journey at Haub Law as the relationships he has formed with his classmates in the 2023 FLEX class. Additionally, as a working student and entrepreneur, Chad has been able to apply the knowledge he learned in his classes to the work projects that he was engaged in at the time. He looks forward to using his law degree and is confident that it will allow him to advance his career with the bonus of gaining an invaluable education.

For his demonstrated academic excellence, leadership, and service to the law school and community, the Elisabeth Haub School of Law honors Chad Weiss with the 2023 Dean's Award.

Academic Regalia

The history of academic dress dates back to the early days of the oldest universities. A statute of 1321 required all "Doctors, Licentiates, and Bachelors" of the University of Coimbra to wear gowns. In England, during the second half of the 14th century, the statutes of certain colleges forbade "excess in apparel" and prescribed the wearing of a long gown. It is still a question whether academic dress finds its sources chiefly in ecclesiastical or in civilian dress. Gowns may have been worn for warmth in the unheated buildings frequented by medieval scholars, while hoods seem to have served to cover the tonsured head until replaced by the skull cap. In time, the skull cap was replaced by the mortarboard caps that are used widely today.

In 1895, the Intercollegiate Bureau of Academic Costume was formed to establish a suitable code of academic dress for the colleges and universities of the United States. The academic costume code recognizes three types of gowns, usually black. The gown for the bachelor's degree has pointed sleeves. The gown for the master's degree has long, closed sleeves with the arc of a circle near the bottom. A doctor's gown is faced with velvet, and has full, round, open sleeves bearing three bars of velvet on each sleeve. The velvet facing and bars may either be black or the color distinctive of the subject to which the degree pertains. The hood is made of a material identical to the gown and is lined in the official academic color of the institution conferring the degree. When the institution has more than one color, the chevron is used to introduce the second color. For Pace University, the official colors found in the hood are blue and gold. Colored velvet or velveteen binds the hood and indicates the subject to which the degree pertains.

For all academic purposes, the colors associated with the various subjects at Pace University are as follows:

Arts, Letters, Humanities	White
Commerce, Accountancy, Business	Drab
Education	Light Blue
Fine Arts	Brown
Health Professions, Communication Sciences and Disorders	Silver
Health Professions, Health Science	Sage
Health Professions, Nursing	Apricot, Dark Blue

Honor Societies

Pace University strives to foster intellectual growth, ethical maturity, civic responsibility, and professionalism in specific disciplines. Honor societies at Pace University play a vital role in advancing these goals. All national and international honor societies recognize academic excellence, promote scholarship, and enrich the educational experience. Members benefit from fellowship between students, faculty, and active professionals. Honor societies are keys that open doors to graduate school, career opportunities, and professional development. Membership in an honor society bestows honor, recognition, and lifetime distinction.

Students who are members in national and international honor societies are distinguished by wearing a colored cord around their neck. The colors and the honor society they represent are as follows:

Alpha Chi – National College Honor Scholarship Society
Cord Colors: Blue and Gold

Alpha Iota Delta – National Honor Society in the Decision Sciences (Lubin)

In Recognition of Pace University Student Veterans

Pace University remains committed to providing high-quality and affordable education to our veteran students who have served our nation with honor and distinction. We feel privileged to have you as members of the Pace Community, now and in the future. We know that your contributions have enriched our academic and student life beyond measure. We recognize your service and sacrifice and wish you the very best in your future personal and career endeavors.

Our graduating student veterans are distinguished by the cords that indicate the branch of service that they served within the United States Armed Forces.

Traditional Symbols

In addition to the regalia and finery customarily worn by University faculty and officers, formal academic ceremonies often include colorful signs and symbols representing the history and traditions of university life as well as specific aspects of the university being celebrated.

Flags

At Pace University ceremonies, in addition to the flags of the United States, the state of New York, and of the University, the president is represented by a swallow-tail flag of a blue field with a gold border bearing the University seal in pale blue, ringed by the inscription "Office of the President."

Each school/college within the University (College of Health Professions, Dyson College of Arts and Sciences, Elisabeth Haub School of Law, Lubin School of Business, the School of Education, and the Seidenberg School of Computer Science and Information Systems) is signified by a blue and gold banner with the school/college name and University logo.

Maces

The mace was developed as an armor-crushing weapon in the 13th century. Battle axes and maces were formidable chivalric tools of combat and warfare. They became symbols of authority, commanding attention and respect for the bearer, and were associated with those responsible for protecting the king's person. By the 16th century, maces were ornately designed and decorated with jewels and precious metals, often crafted with elegant architectural motifs.

At Pace University, the dean for students carries two maces. One is a replica of a Gothic battle mace with a head formed by five flanges, topped by a fluted conical finial. The rondel consists of a rusticated wood shaft attached to a metal cylindrical base, all of which is brass plated and inscribed with the words "Pace University." The mace was introduced in 1968 at the first commencement held on the Pleasantville Campus. The second mace was first used in 1927 at commencement exercises of Good Counsel College, which became the College of White Plains and which was consolidated in 1975 with Pace University. The brass and wood mace is topped by a sphere and a formée cross with a garnet at its center. The rondel, consisting of two brass sections separated by a ribbed wooden grip, has a sphere at its base, which bears the inscription "Pace University."

University marshals carry batons that represent the schools/colleges of the University. The University seal is mounted on each end of the baton, which is made of American walnut. The name of each person who has served as dean of the school/college is engraved on a brass plate affixed to the school/college baton.

Verge

The verge, an elongated mace or staff carried by the grand marshal, is made of Honduran rosewood. It is topped by a replica of a bronze-coated copper globe made in 1510, which is the earliest existing representation depicting the discoveries of Christopher Columbus in the Western Hemisphere. Beneath the globe, each Pace campus is represented by ribbons of the campus color: green for New York City, blue for Pleasantville, and red for White Plains. The upper section of the shaft is inlaid with rare woods representing the four reaches of the world: ebony, teak, olive, and oak.

The Centennial Medallion (retired)

The medallion was struck in commemoration of the University's Centennial in 2006. Both the Chair of the Board of Trustees and the University President wore the Centennial Medallion, which is made of bronze and layered with silver plate. The face of the medallion is the Pace University seal and the reverse bears the engraved image of the Centennial mark.

The Centennial Staff

The University President carries an ornate staff that was crafted in 2006 to commemorate the University's Centennial. The Centennial Medallion set in brass tops the staff, which is almost six feet in height and made of solid wood.

The presidential flag, verge, and school/college batons were designed by John Mulgrew, Professor of Fine Arts.

The school/college banners were designed by Aliatu Burke.

The Centennial staff was designed by David Grupper.

The Centennial staff was crafted by Michael Fayed, Master Wood Turner.

Welcome to the Pace Alumni Community

Congratulations, Class of 2023!

Today, you become official members of the Pace University Alumni Association where you join our network of more than 162,000 talented alumni worldwide and share one of the most significant milestones in your life: Pace University. Regardless of where you may live or what career you choose to pursue in the future, you and your classmates will remain connected to each other by your Pace experience.

You are joining a diverse, strong, successful network open to you as you look for new opportunities, change jobs or careers, or relocate. We encourage you to share your Pace Pride and seek out other alumni in your community, network, and workplace.

We hope that you will remain connected to your alma mater! Please visit us often and enjoy the many programs, benefits, and services that are available to our alumni through the Alumni Association. Visit <https://www.alumni.pace.edu> for more information about participating in exclusive alumni events and programs, alumni affinity groups and committees, staying connected, and last—but not least—volunteer and mentorship opportunities.

We want to continue to hear from you. Please contact us at 1 (877) 8-ALUMNI or pacealum@pace.edu with questions and suggestions.

We would also like to acknowledge those of you who chose to pay it forward by participating in our senior class gift. Thank you so much for doing so.

We wish you all the best in your future endeavors, and we look forward to seeing you at our alumni events.

Sincerely,

Sabrina A. Griffin '92
