

LAW SCHOOL WINS FIRST PLACE IN MOCK TRIAL REGIONALS

Beating out some of the top law schools in the country for the second year in a row, Elisabeth Haub School of Law at Pace University in White Plains has captured first place in the regional competition of the Constance Baker Motley Mock Trial Competition.

The team competed in the regional mock trial run by the National Black Law Students Association (NBLSA) on Jan. 25. They will move to the national competition in Cincinnati during the first week in March.

The students' coach was adjunct professor Betty Lawrence Lewis, assisted by Ikeisha Al Shabazz.